The Hunger Report would not be possible without the consistent and generous support of our sponsors. We are especially grateful for the following:

Co-Publishers:
(Donations of $25,000 or more)

Margaret Wallhagen and Bill Strawbridge

Benefactors:
(These donors have historically and consistently donated $5,000 or more.)

The Adventist Development and Relief Agency (ADRA) is the global humanitarian organization of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. Through an international network, ADRA delivers relief and development assistance to individuals in more than 130 countries—regardless of their ethnicity, political affiliation, or religious association. By partnering with communities, organizations, and governments, ADRA is able to improve the quality of life of millions through 9 impact areas, which are: Livelihoods & Agriculture, Children, Water, Sanitation & Hygiene, Community Health, Disaster Response, Economic Growth, Hunger & Nutrition, Social Justice, and Gender Equity. https://adra.org

American Baptist Churches USA World Relief supports, enables and encourages emergency relief, refugee work, disaster rehabilitation, and development assistance. It is funded by the One Great Hour of Sharing offering. It is the responsibility of the World Relief Committee to designate where donations will go in the coming year. Today, One Great Hour of Sharing serves people in over 80 countries around the world. Sponsored by nine Christian U.S. denominations and Church World Service, One Great Hour of Sharing makes sure that it can respond to needs as soon as they happen and that tens of thousands of people receive support for ongoing relief, rehabilitation, and development. http://abc-oghs.org

Community of Christ engages the church and others in a response to the needs of hungry people throughout the world. Its primary purpose is to support programs of food production, storage and distribution; fund projects to provide potable water; supply farm animals; instruct in food preparation and nutrition; and educate in marketing strategies for produce. It also seeks to advocate for the hungry and educate about the causes and alleviation of hunger in the world. www.cofchrist.org

Cooperative Baptist Fellowship is a fellowship of Baptist Christians and churches who share a passion for the Great Commission of Jesus Christ and a commitment to Baptist principles of faith and practice. The Fellowship’s purpose is to serve Christians and churches as they discover and fulfill their God-given mission. One of the Fellowship’s strategic initiatives is engaging in holistic missions and ministries among the most neglected in a world without borders. www.thefellowship.info

Covenant World Relief is an effective and efficient humanitarian aid ministry of the Evangelical Covenant Church with a more than 60-year history. Covenant World Relief collaborates with partners around the world to provide relief, rehabilitation, and transformational community development. These partnerships empower local ministries, increase local involvement, reduce overhead and facilitate an immediate response to disaster and human suffering. Our charge is to love, serve and work together with the poor, the powerless, and the marginalized. www.covchurch.org/cwr

Evangelical Lutheran Church in America World Hunger is the anti-hunger program of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America. It responds to hunger and poverty in the United States and around the world by addressing root causes. Through a comprehensive program of relief, development, education, and advocacy, people are connected to the resources they need to lift themselves out of poverty. The international work of ELCA World Hunger is carried out through ELCA companion relationships as well as through trusted partners like Lutheran World Relief (LWR) and The Lutheran World Federation (LWF). Because of these long-held connections to partners around the world, ELCA World Hunger efforts are efficient and effective. The domestic work of ELCA World Hunger is carried out primarily through the Domestic Hunger Grants Program (relief, development, and community organizing projects). www.elca.org
Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) of the United Nations was founded with a mandate to raise levels of nutrition and standards of living, improve agricultural productivity and better the condition of rural populations. FAO is also a source of knowledge and information, helping developing countries and countries in transition modernize and improve agriculture, forestry and fisheries practices. www.fao.org/home/en

Foods Resource Bank is a Christian response to world hunger. Its goal is for hungry people to know the dignity and hope of feeding themselves by making it possible for them, through sustainable smallholder agricultural programs, to produce food for their families with extra to share, barter or sell. Food Resource Bank endeavors to build networks with various agricultural communities in “growing projects” in the United States, allowing participants to give a gift only they can give. These volunteers grow crops or raise animals, sell them in the United States and the resulting money is used by implementing members (denomination and their agencies) to establish food security programs abroad. www.FoodsResourceBank.org

Independent Presbyterian Church (IPC) Foundation is a non-profit corporation formed in 1973 in Birmingham, Alabama to extend IPC’s ministries through the use of endowments. The IPC Foundation invests its funds in innovative and responsive ways so that it’s assets may serve Christ’s Church, the community, and the world. Each year, the IPC Foundation awards grants for “the benefit of mankind, the education of youth, the relief of human suffering, and propagation of the Christian religion.” www.ipc-usa.org

United Church of Christ (National) supports 1.2 million members in congregations and other settings of the United Church of Christ in developing relationships with the greater church community that are global, multiracial and multicultural, open and affirming, and accessible to all. Programs of United Church of Christ national setting include Volunteer Ministries and National Disaster Ministries, as well as ministries of Refugee & Immigration, Health & Wholeness Advocacy, and One Great Hour of Sharing and Neighbors in Need special mission offerings. www.ucc.org

Bread for the World Institute is grateful to the following people for their contribution to the development of this report. For invaluable comments on drafts chapters, we thank staff at the Center for Budget and Policy Priorities: Jared Bernstein, Brandon DeBot, Robert Greenstein, Chye-Ching Huang, and Chad Stone. At the American Enterprise Institute, we thank Robert Doar and colleagues in the poverty studies program.

Others who reviewed chapters and participated in a consultation on the report include Vic Adamo, Bread for the World board member; Akousa Ali, NAACP Washington, DC, branch; Christie Balch, Crossroads Community Food Network; Alexis DeSimone, Solidarity Center; Rodney Fisher, education consultant; Rebecca Middleton, Alliance to End Hunger; Tony Pipa, Brookings Institution; and Debbie Weinstein, Coalition on Human Needs.

The Institute consulted with many other people with valuable insight on subjects covered in this report: Debra Willis-Baldwin, Dad’s Enterprises; Bob Brown, Michigan State University; Chuck Collins, Patriotic Millionaires; Elizabeth Kneebone, Brookings Institution; Craig Lamb, Rowan-Cabarrus Community College; Terrence Ruth, Wake County Public Schools; and Ari Schwartz, DC Jobs with Justice.

The Institute is grateful to Bread for the World staff Portia Everett, Matt Gross, Nicole Schmidt, and Angelique Walker-Smith for helping to set up meetings in Baltimore, Chicago, and cities in North Carolina and Ohio. In Baltimore, we discussed job training programs with Andrea Harrison, Maryland New Directions, and Travis Howell, who shared his personal journey out of poverty. In Chicago, we sought insight from staff and board members of the Southwest Organizing Project, a community nonprofit, on how federal policies support local development efforts; special thanks to Rafi Peterson for sharing his experiences working with formerly incarcerated men. In Ohio, our goal was to lean about the intersection of deindustrialization and the opioid crisis; special thanks to Kristen Davis for sharing her experience with addiction and recovery while supporting herself and her son. In North Carolina, our goal was primarily to learn more about the intersection of economic mobility and racial discrimination; special thanks to Sheila Funderburke of the Urban League of Central Carolinas for facilitating a focus group with at-risk youth living in Charlotte.

Bread for the World colleagues in church relations wrote the Christian Study Guide and acquired the signatories on the Religious Leaders’ Statement. Colleagues in the communications department provided support with production of the print and online editions and helped prepare for the launch of the report. Eric Bond proofread the report.

We apologize to anyone else who contributed to this report and was not included in these acknowledgements. All mistakes and errors are ours.
